The Fifth Wafers.

A man who now stands high in the mercantile community related to me the following little incident of his early life:

At the age of 16 I entered the shop of Silas Sturdevant as a clerk. One day shortly after my installment into the office, I was employed in sealing and superscribing a lot of business circulars—several hundred of them. That was long before the day of gluton, and I used to think we were the best business men. While I was thus here Mr. Sturdevant came into the counting room, and when I observed that he was watching me I worked the best I could, hoping to get a word of appreciation. By and by he said:

"Young man, don't you think half a wafer would secure one of these circulars just as well as a whole one?"

I looked up probably exhibiting as much surprise as surprise.

"It would give your wafers," he added,

"you will accomplish all you desire, and at the same time make a saving of just one-half."

He turned away, and while I was thinking over it, an old master of letters was, a lady enter who had been appointed one of a committee to obtain subscriptions toward building an orphan asylum. Our public spirited man had given the laud, and now they wished to raise $100,000 if possible, for the buildings and necessary endowments. Mr. Sturdevant said he already been consulted on the subject.

"Yes," thought I, "and I guess that's all it will amount to!"

But he took the paper and wrote his name on it.

"I will give $500."

I could hardly believe my ears.

At that moment the merchant arose to a statue of grandeur before me and in a雄伟的 voice said, "I am sorry for even that I knew that the loss of such wafers with its sequel, was to be the initial of my future success.—New York Ledger.

Congressmen and Bribes.

A man who has been defeated for reelection is not in a fit frame of mind to legislate for his people. There is a sting in defeat that tends to clogged the feeling of responsibility. One often finds expression in the vote of such men against wholesome legislation. That same feeling often produces such a want of interest in proceedings as to cause the member to be absent nearly all the session.

Congressmen are not usually men of means. Their congressional career has resulted in the destruction of their clientele or business. To a defeated member who has relied upon his salary for support, there looks like a gloomy gloom. It is then some are apt to propound to propositions which they would never think of entertaining if they were to go before the people for re-election. It is then that the attorney of some corporation, who is a tendency to a vote is afterward found in the record of votes of legislation of a general or special character favoring the corporation. If an affirmative vote cannot be had, it is often done as immediate as possible. After that is done, it is a time in the history of the man when he will directly or indirectly accept a bribe, it is then. There is less chance of detection. He is no longer a political factor. His political enemies no longer watch him, and the opposition newspapers no longer criticize his conduct, and the secret is his own and it is safe.

There are many upright men in congress who would not be influenced by defeat. But in a country such as the house of representatives, there are always some who would yield to temptation. It is a fact that nearly all, if not all, of the legislation that is claimed to have been passed by corrupt influences was enacted during those regular sessions of congress.—Hon. J. F. Shadwell in North American Review.

A Bomb Loaded With Men.

A new bomb has been invented that is extremely curious affair.

It is called a pioneer bomb and is made of a common canister like an ordinary cannon ball. The curious part of it is that instead of carrying lead and explosives it is to have men inside.

The idea of the invention, explains The Great Round World, is to fire soldiers into the enemy's camp. The bomb opens the moment it touches the ground, the men spring out and begin to fight the enemies within reach.

A above of these bombs would very seriously inconvenience the enemy, it is to be hoped, for they would not quite know what to make of such anfounding cannon balls.

The bomb is so arranged that there is no sudden jar or shock to the inside. It is provided with a number of rubber tubes filled with air, like the bicycle tires. These rubber tubes prevent the men from any injury which might be caused by reaching the ground so suddenly. The bomb爆破 along like a rubber ball once or twice, and the soldiers are said to be quite comfortable inside.—Chicago Record.

MONEY BY REGISTERED MAIL.

REASONS WHY BANKS PREFER TO REMIT BY EXPRESS.

Result of the Government Declining to Ship at Contract Rates.—The Delay in Remittance in Case of Loss in the Post-office.—Technicities of the Insurance Companies.

A novel feature in the shipments of currency to interior points, and particularly to the South and West, is the great expense to which the registered mail service is being used for that purpose instead of the money being shipped by express as was formerly the general custom.

The reason for this is the inability of the banks to secure this year, through the Sub-treasury contract rates for the express.

As a result of that the banks had to pay what are known as bankers' rates to the express companies which are two or three times as great as the government-contract rates, or ship their money by registered mail.

The course of the Treasury in respect to this matter has been explained from time to time in the Evening Post, so far as my explanations could be obtained. Heretofore the Treasury gladly gave to the banks the privilege of shipping currency at government-contract rates, or rather shipped the currency for the banks at the government rates in return for gold remittances. A clause, however, was inserted in the contract with the express company, when it was last made by which such privileges should only be afforded to the banks when the Treasury needed gold.

The discretion in the matter apparently rests with the Secretary of the Treasury, who has seemingly decided that the Treasury does not want gold now.

Consequently the banks can not have the benefit of the government-contract rates for express;

although bankers seem to think that would be better for the Treasury always to hold back when it can without loss.

The Treasury ruling, however, has not helped the express company very much, because nearly all the country banks to whom money is remitted, and who have to pay the cost of transmission, direct their New York correspondents to ship the money by registered mail, and insure its safe delivery in one or other of the companies which make a specialty of that business.

The cost of postage and insurance is much less than the usual express charges at what are known as bankers' rates.

For New York bankers,

however, would remit money by registered mail in sending money by registered mail, when the delivery of the money is insured by one of the local insurance companies are very great compared with the simple, because they consider it the safer way.

If money is lost by an express company during transmission, the loss is promptly made good, whereas,

banks say, it takes a long time and is a troublesome task, to recover the amount when the money is lost in the mails.

The government is not very responsible; it only promises to take greater care of a registered package, for which the registration for eight cents is charged; it cannot or does not guarantee its delivery or reimbursement in case of loss.

The cashier of a large national bank which ships many thousands of dollars every day to its correspondents

all over the United States, in speaking of this matter today, said:

"The conservative banker still prefers to send money by the well-known express companies, but, to save expense, since the government refuses to remit for the banks any longer at government-contract rates,

the country banks are apparently willing to take the risk of transmission by registered mail, with the guarantee of an insurance company's policy for its delivery.

it just the same as for an ordinary letter or package of merchandise. The package of money is thrown in with packages of merchandise of all sorts, and no more care is taken of it than is taken with a pair of shoes or a package of gloves. The registrars' receipt is not a document that is well known or as satisfactory as the receipt of the receiving clerk of an express company, and in case of the loss of the package, the delay in the recovery of the money is inevitable.

"For instance, a few years ago a Southern bank ordered from New York correspondence $20,000 in currency, the money to be sent by registered mail. The package was put in a certain through pouch, but when the pouch was opened in the Southern post-office in the presence of the President of the bank who was anxious about the arrival of the money, the package was not there. Investigation by the post-office authorities failed to discover its whereabouts, and the insurance company which had issued a policy guaranteeing its safe delivery was no more successful and it was a long time before the bank was reimbursed for the loss. The incoincidence caused by time could not be estimated. In some cases, as in times of panic, for instance, the delay might be fraught with very serious consequences. A year or so after the loss of the money referred to, other missing articles were traced to a certain dishonest postal employee, and the secret of the missing money package was then solved by his confession.

"On the other hand, the express companies locate missing packages of money or make good the loss promptly, without technicalities or delays. They are responsible, and the public is satisfied with them. Their employees are chosen solely on the ground of ability and trustworthiness, and they are therefore more likely to be accurate and prompt than postal employees, who owe their places more or less to political influence notwithstanding the civil-service examination. While it is true that by insuring money sent by registered mail there in some guarantee against loss by non-delivery, it is equally true that there is considerable risk of loss if the insurance company stands on technicalities. The slightest informality in the observance of the terms of an open policy issued by the insurance company renders the policy invalid, and would in the case of a missing package cause the loss to fall on the consignor. The technicalities to be observed by a remitting bank in sending money by registered mail, when the delivery of the money is insured by one of the local insurance companies are very great compared with the simple, be-cause they consider it the safer way.

Stories of Princeps.

Mr. Valentine Princeps, the well known English artist, is a very jolly fellow. Indeed, and is fond of telling amusing stories about himself and his friends. He is a source of mirth, and he likes to relate the blunders of his oddities. Once, when going to dine at a fashionable mansion, he was accosted by the butler.

"What name, sir?"

"Princeps."

Great was the big artist's amazement when he was then announced loudly and pompously as Prince Hippolytus.

"Princeps," he said, "I am told, is one of the most popular of our artists." He claimed to be the original narrator.

Moreover, it is a true one. An old country couple, so he related, had strayed into the Manchester Art gallery, where in hand, were wandering around the pictures, which were numbered one, two, three, and so on in each division, instead of continuously throughout the whole exhibition.

The old woman, however, was looking at the picture of the "Death of Lear," and just reached out her hand to touch the poor beast's injuries to his comrades on the rocks above. She read off the title of the picture to her husband.

"There's Life in the Old Dog Yet."

Looking compassionately on the picture form of the aged and forsaken King, Jarge failed to perceive anything wrong in the name.

"So there is life, so there is!" he exclaimed, and then, with a groan, adding, with dropped voice and a shake of the head at Lear, "but not much, not much!"—YOUTH'S Companion.

Plow.

Plovers were originally drawn with a forked stick, the long arm being harnessed, in some primitive way, to an oxen team of oxen, and the short arm being held in front.

It is a curious fact that in oriental countries the same kind of plow is used now as was described by the writers of 2,000 years ago. The plow represented on the Egyptian monuments, and the plow today in the valley of the Nile.

Today we see in the valley of the Nile, our patent office has over 10,000 models of plows.

In Egypt, Syria and India there is but one, and that one which is seen in use for thousands of years.

The plow described by Virgil in B.C. is in use in many countries districts of Italy today. In 1818 patents were taken out by David Ramsay and Thomas Wildgoose for "engines to plow grounds whether island or plain." The same kind of plow is used in almost every country in the world.

It is a fact that different kinds of animals hitched together was forbidden on account of the cruelty involved by the unequal draft imposed upon animals of different sizes working in the same harness.

In China the same kind of plow is used.

The three-year-old boy of J. A. Johnson, of Lynn Center, Ill., is subject to fits of croup. Mr. Johnson says he suffered from the timidity of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, in a severe attack, saved his little boy's life. He is in the drug business, a member of the firm of Johnson Bros. of that place and they handle a great variety of medicines for throat and lung diseases. He had all these to choose from, and skilled physicians ready to respond to his call, but selected this remedy for use in his own family at a time when a child's life was in danger, because he knew it to be superior to any other, and famous the country over for its cures of croup. Mr. Johnson says this is the best selling cough medicine they handle, and that it gives splendid satisfaction in all cases. Sold by Morrison the Druggist.

John W. Edgely, administrator of the estate of the late Hannah Young, Meredith, will sell the house at auction situated on Waukewan street, containing eight rooms, suitable for one or two families, together with the barn and ninety square rods of land. The Winnebaukee Paper Company of Franklin is making preparations for building a dam on the Pemigewasset river. Work will be begun as early in the spring as the condition of the river will permit. The dam is to be built to form a reservoir for the pulp wood to be floated down the river, but it will also furnish at least 2000 horse power, a part which will doubtless be utilized. At present there is no dam at Franklin on the Pemigewasset.

The True Remedy

W. M. Reppin, editor Tiskilwa, Ill., "Chief," says: "We won't keep house without Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Cough and Colds. Experience has taught us that other remedies do not get the true result until we used Dr. King's New Discovery. No other remedy can take its place in our home, as in it we have a certain and sure cure for Consumption, Cough and colds. It is folly to experiment with other remedies even if they are urged on us as just as good as Dr. King's New Discovery. They are not as good, because this remedy has a record of success and besides is guaranteed. It never fails to satisfy. Trials bottles free at Morrison the Druggist."

Old Young People.

People age quickly in this American life, and instances of preservation of youthful strength and vigor in mature years are pointed to as remarkable exceptions. We ought to believe in early decay of physical beauty and strength, especially in our women and permit the decline to continue with a passing sigh. Most women have a worn look in their middle twenties, their figure loses its roundness, the face the glow of youth, and from that time on they age rapidly. All this is wrong and unnecessary. Let everybody to whom this word may come, men and women alike, consult Dr. Greene, discoverer of the famous Nervura, and secure his invaluable advice. Dr. Greene, discoverer of the famous Nervura, and many other wonderful remedies, invites consultation at his office, 34 Temple Place, Boston, Mass., where you can call and send letter through the mail, and in either case he will give you advice absolutely free of all charge. This offer is for everybody, old and young, rich and poor, and thousands of people prefer to go to the practical practice of the experienced advice of this great specialist and the marvelous curative power of his remedies. Don't be satisfied to grow old prematurely when the advice of this famous physician is at your disposal for the asking, wholly free of charge.

As Viewed By A Banker.
F. W. Brown, president of the Galeburg, Ill., had the following to say recently in favor of postal savings banks:

"Yes, I believe in postal saving banks. There is a need in our country—yes, an absolute necessity—that people should be taught to make a judicious use of their earnings; in other words, taught to save money.
This, like all other education, should begin with the young. The postal system would help in this, as it would be in the reach of all and afford any one, even the small children, an opportunity to make a beginning in saving something. It should be started on a plan that will gather the waste money that now never sees a bank. In this way the penny is cared for until it gets enough added to it to make a dollar, and from this grows on until it reaches a judicious investment—homestead and loan association, a lot or a home started, or something to which the owner attaches a value. Then this person begins to become something. Here ends our anarchist and socialist and government ownership, which so many are to-day advocating and of which so many are afraid.
The secret of saving is to make a beginning. When this beginning is made then there arrives something better in the individual. The saving must be used, invested, set to work.
Out of this grows the business habit, and out of this habit the man who develops and becomes capable of managing it. Now it seems to me as a means to this end all auxiliaries
we can advise that are just and honorable should be used. Doing things is contagious, and if this movement was once universal and became a popular movement all would move more in that direction and in time might become a national characteristic."

"No; it is my opinion banks and banks as a rule are not opposed to the postal bank system, and it is my opinion the system in time would become an adjunct of banking and business, just as in church the Sunday school is a help to the church—not a competitor. We should take a broad view of these things, not a selfish one. Selfishness hurts the self in business as well as in morals. Yes, for one you may put me down for bank savings banks, and as I said before, when the time comes you will find banks are not, as a rule, opposed to them, as they will recognize in them an adjunct of business of all kinds, and it is out of increased business that banks grow and prosper."
—Chicago Record.

The Boston Herald of Monday devoted almost three columns of its space to a signed article written by Bank Commissioner Walker of Concord, wherein he gave most valuable information concerning the Union Pacific railroad. No man is better qualified than Mr. Walker to write about the Union Pacific affairs, as much of his time was devoted to it in the interest of the government, while he was in its service.

On one occasion Lord Wolseley's life was saved by Prince Victor of Hohenlohe, known as Count Gleichen. It was in the Crimea, when young Wolseley, badly wounded, was passed by the surgeon who had been sent to him by his general's orders. Prince Victor tried to extract a jagged piece of stone which was sticking in the wound, and the prince succeeded in restoring Wolseley, for, after a little time, he had a bad pain in his throat and underwent an operation from the surgeon that he was dead, he sat up and exclaimed, "No more dead than you, are you?"—Liverpool Mercury.

THE ATTRACTION

At the Drug Stores Begins Today and Continues one week from this Date.

Great Prescription Remedy Given Away.

The public should avail themselves of the opportunity offered them in a medical exhibition and sold by druggists, who have secured a permit to sell a medicine that is attracting so much attention at the present time—the great New York specialist Dr. Scott's.

This medicine is put up in large bottles, at one dollar per bottle, but for the purpose of showing its merits to the people of this vicinity a doctor will give free of charge to any individual who will buy one bottle.

Good for one week only.

Dr. Scott, America's Greatest Physician,

has been prevailed upon to have his greatest remedy placed in the hands of the local doctors and leading druggists. Arrangements have been completed by this New England physician to supply every city.

The manufacturer, in making preparations for furnishing doctors and druggists with this wonderful medicine, has not only longer necessary to wait for the people to have access to New York for treatment, but the full advantage of eminent medical skill is furnished to all through the local doctors and druggists.

An agency has been called to town and has arranged with

DR. GEORGE F. SANBORN.

It Effectually Controls and Cures

Kidney Disease, Liver Complaint, Sick Headache, Nervousness, and exhausted Nervous Vitality, Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Scrofula, Piles in Men, Cancer, Skin Disease, General Debility, Diseases Female Weakness, Malaria, Poison. You can try

DR. SCOTT'S MEDICINE

with the full assurance of a permanent cure in the majority of cases. Dr. Scott and Dr. Grier, and it has left you in a sound or weakened condition or with Rheumatism, use this medicine. It goes directly to the seat of morbid action.

Take three doses of the first bottle will convince you of its superior merits over patent medicines.

Ask your Druggist for Dr. Scott's Remedy. Come at once if you want the extra bottle.

How to Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common water glass with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates a diseased condition of the kidneys. When urine stains linen it is positive evidence of kidney disease. If the urine causes to urinate or pain in the back, is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What To Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Scott's Special Remedy, the greatest kidney remedy fails every winter in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urine, and generally affects the heart, it has a tonic effect, following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and extraordinary effect of Dr. Scott's Remedy is well realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases! If need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists, price fifty cents each dose. For men, women, boys and girls, both sent free by mail mention THE MEREDITH NEWS and send your full post-office address to Dr. Kimer & Co., Binghampton, N. Y. The proprietors of this paper guarantee the genuineness of this offer.

REVEALED IN A DREAM.

A Vision of a Gold Mine That Came to Pass.

To dream of a gold mine in a distant part of the country and from such data to locate the claim among hundreds of others is a piece of luck that the old prospector would hardly dare to hope for.

Yet a woman living 800 miles from the El Dorado mine, to the westward of Cripple Creek, following the dictates of a seven times repeated vision, has succeeded in doing this very thing, and is today operating one of the most successful mines in the whole country.

Several miners did Mrs. Law dream of the same place. In vision appeared a tall pine, towering above the surrounding forest, and a deep ravine, with stream of silver water running through it, deep seated between two mountains. The mounting pine, a characteristic of the country. They were abrupt peaks rising high above the surrounding foothills, outlined gray and cold against a bright blue sky. But what made them they were, or what dictated to me to find them, Mrs. Law had no idea.

A pleasure journey took her through Colorado. The way was long and the trip across the seemingly eternal flat land had been arduous. The train was antiquated, the foothills, as the glamed through the car window, there arose before her a misty, clear and distinct against the pale Colorado sky, the familiar scene of mountain and pine. The train pursued its way where it appeared before her waking eyes the valley where she had seen so often in sleep, through the center flowed the river of which she had been told by the man who had come to her in the valley.

Mr. Law, accompanied by two friends and his husband—who had ceased to be skeptical—arrived on a horseback in the vicinity of what was then the outskirts of Cripple Creek, and with a determination not to be daunted by difficulties staked out a claim in the valley.

Mrs. Law was now able to organize a company, incorporated under the name of the Denver Gold Mining Company. It was formed entirely of women and a woman lawyer was employed to see that it was duly organized in Kansas City with 200,000 shares at $1 each—Philadelphia Press.

The Trials of the Car.

It is certain that the car cannot possess his father's iron constitution, and that he is not as strong as the present system, but he must remain strong—over-worked, it is true, only that he must do work, sedentary work, for eight or ten hours a day, like an English barrister or physician in great practice, but that the kind of work is so exhausting to the nerves. It is bad enough to be forced to sit in a car with 2000 persons, enduring a jolt a week, a 10 per cent of which may "make" or nearly ruin individuals, but a vice versa is protected from doing too much harm by immutable laws, customs and responsibilities of society.

The "supreme order" is, as it is called, the basis of the law, cannot, in numerous instances, be dispensed with, and in others almost as numerous affects great interest, great political events or the fate of persons to whom enormous powers are necessarily intrusted.

Every such order requires an effort of the mind. People talk of autocrats as if they were necessarily demons, but in reality an autocrat may include, but still more anxious that their policy or administration or special dad should succeed and increase either the dignity or the happiness of the people.

It is almost impossible for a man in weak health to fill such a post without occasionally breaking down, and as every breakdown is for many purposes an impediment to the service, as the car's hand is an arm, and a shoulder, as an English are reported that the majority is revolting. Some of them may be true or all of them may be false, but none of them can be easily disproved unless confirmed by official or professional admissions.—London Spectator.

A Migratory Journal.

The new journal is not confined to America. Two young Frenchmen, now in the fourth year of their course, in this city early last week on a tour of the world, which is a rather unusual example of journalistic enterprise. They are MM. J. Leroy and H. Papillard, who left Paris two years ago without a cent in their pockets.
